

What's in a name?

An introduction to cartridge recycling:

- "Recycling": Empty cartridges are collected and taken to a recycling center where materials are melted down and reused in the production of other products.
- "Refilled": Empty cartridges are inspected, cleaned and refilled with ink or toner.
- "Remanufactured": Essentially, a new cartridge is made from previously used components. Empty cartridges are collected and returned to a processing facility which completely disassembles the cartridge into its individual components. These components are then cleaned and inspected. Components not meeting original equipment manufacturer (OEM) specifications are recycled. Cartridges are reassembled with inspected components, using new components where necessary, and refilled with ink or toner.
- "Compatible Cartridge": All components of a cartridge are manufactured to OEM specifications by someone other than the original manufacturer.

Quality Guarantee: Postal Connections guarantees that its remanufactured, refilled, and compatible cartridges will be 100% compatible with the intended printer and will provide the same quality and page quantity within +/- 5% of the OEM cartridge specifications.
